School of Language, Literature and Culture Studies

Centre of Spanish, Portuguese, Italian, and Latin American Studies (CSPILAS), Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU) is delighted to announce the 8th International Conference, celebrating 70 years of Hispanism in India. This prestigious conference invites scholars and researchers, to explore and share their invaluable insights on a wide range of topics related to Luso-Hispanic world.

The evolution of Spanish language learning in India over the last five decades has been one of the most significant mediums of cultural and academic exchange, resulting in the strengthening of India's ties with the Luso-Hispanic world, as reflected in the 18th G20 Summit held in India. The establishment of Centre of Spanish, Portuguese, Italian, and Latin American Studies (CSPILAS) in the early 1970s at Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU) created a robust foundation for the growth of Hispanism in India. Through academia, research, and cultural initiatives, CSPILAS has been bridging linguistic and cultural boundaries, fostering knowledge and cultural exchange between India and the Luso-Hispanic world. This aligns with the ancient Indian ethos of "Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam," which means the world is one family, highlighting rhizomatic interconnectedness and mutual understanding nurtured through the teaching and learning of Spanish, Portuguese, and Latin American languages and cultures. The 8th International Conference on Hispanic Studies commemorates this milestone, inviting scholars and independent researchers/practitioners to explore themes of Luso-Hispanic literature and culture. This event celebrates the legacy and future of Hispanism in India, marking seventy years of fruitful intercultural dialogue.
