CIRCULAR

As part of the university's commitment to e-governance for making the administration transparent and efficient, the Office of Chief Proctor has integrated its process of granting no dues to the students with the university's online registration, evaluation and thesis tracking system. With effect from 10/07/2015, students will not need to visit the Office of the Chief Proctor for seeking no dues for registration, thesis submission and issue of final mark sheet. The process of registration, thesis submission and issue of final mark sheet will be automatically cleared unless it is blocked at the appropriate stages for students who (i) have been rusticated or expelled by the university, (ii) have not paid and submitted the proof of payment (receipt) of the fine imposed on them, with the Chief Proctor's Office.

Students, who have Proctorial Enquiry pending against them for indulging in acts of indiscipline, will be allowed to continue as regular students till a decision is made in their cases. However, their final mark sheet / degree will be issued only after a decision is made in their cases and the concerned students comply with the orders of the Chief Proctor.

This has approval of the Vice Chancellor.
